

Jesus, you loved the land and fields of flowers; bless farmers, gardeners and all who till and care for the soil.
Lord hear us.

O God we are one in you, and all that we do affects the whole; make us aware of our power to seed the world with good or ill by every thought, word and deed.
Lord hear us.

In taking flesh among us you raised all creation to a new dignity; teach us to have an ever growing reverence for your bountiful creation and a sense of responsibility for its preservation.
Lord hear us.

Creator God, there is a renewed interest in "grow it yourself", allotments and community gardens. May these movements continue to develop and expand.
Lord hear us.

Creator God, you adorn the earth with the beauty of each season; awaken us to your loving care for all that exists as you lift up our hearts with colour and surprise.
Lord hear us.

Christ Jesus, You assured us of God's love for us. May we always respect our bodies and spiritual welfare by the moderate use of the good gifts of our world.
Lord hear us.
